RIORDAN SIGNATURE HOMES

Though the foundation of any residential project at Riordan Signature Homes remains an unwavering commitment to the customer, it's far from the only hallmark on which this award-winning company is built. For more than 20 years, Jay and Daniel Riordan have added to their father's business legacy by creating singular works of architectural brilliance in and around the Chicago area. The standards of craftsmanship and customer-service excellence so valued by James Riordan—a hard-working native of Limerick, Ireland, who realized his dream of starting a company by launching Riordan Builders in 1971—are ingrained in his sons' approach to custom homebuilding. "From the preconstruction development to the construction of the home to the fine details of landscaping, we leave no stone unturned," Jay says. "Satisfied clients define our success." That success is evident not only through referrals by architects, designers and enthralled clients but also through recognition by experts in the field. RSH recently earned the coveted 2010 Crystal Key Award for Best Home in the Chicago area (encompassing more than 130 suburbs) for its one-of-a-kind Nantucket-style residence in Hinsdale. It marked the second consecutive year that Riordan Signature Homes took home this honor. "Meeting a customer's needs is our top priority," Daniel says. "Fulfilling them is our signature mark."

Q+A

How do you define a successful project?

Whether it's Old World sophistication or a new, clean-cut and contemporary design, RSH is founded on the principle of creating not just a house but a home.

How do you think your clients would characterize you?

Quality-driven and dependable. We are devoted to client relationships and ensuring that a beautiful and architecturally distinct home is delivered on time and on budget.

What are your favorite types of styles to work on and why?

In all honesty, we have no favorites. We take pleasure in the challenges that come with the construction of every home—we've never build the same home twice.
